A MESSAGE FROM UNM CAMPUS OFFICE OF SUBSTANCE ABUSE PREVENTION

We conduct an online survey every year among UNM students called the Student Lifestyle Survey (SLS).

The survey helps us determine program impacts on student drinking, substance use, and related activities and helps us determine where prevention programming should be focused.

The survey is anonymous, IRB approved, and takes about 10 minutes to complete.

Providing PhD candidates with support for dissertation research

MELLON
INTERNATIONAL
FELLOWSHIP

About the fellowship

The International Dissertation Research Fellowship (IDRF) program supports the next generation of scholars in the humanities and humanistic social sciences pursuing research that advances knowledge about non-US cultures or US Indigenous cultures and societies. The program is open to a range of methodologies, including research in archives and manuscript collections, fieldwork and surveys, and quantitative data collection. The IDRF program especially welcomes applications from underrepresented institutions.

Eligibility

The program is open to graduate students in the humanities and humanistic social sciences—regardless of citizenship—enrolled in PhD programs in the United States. Applicants must complete all PhD requirements except on-site research by the time the fellowship begins. Proposals for research conducted in the United States with US Indigenous peoples and on Native topics, and proposals that identify the United States as a case for comparative inquiry, are welcome; however, proposals that otherwise focus predominantly or exclusively on the United States are not eligible.

Fellowship terms

The IDRF program provides support for six to twelve months of dissertation research. Applicants from select humanities disciplines are eligible to apply for a shorter international component within the six to twelve months of support. Fellowship amounts vary depending on the research plan, with a per-fellowship average of $23,000.

www.ssrc.org/fellowships/idrf-fellowship

The IDRF program is funded by the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation.

Deadline: November 2, 2021
