There are no disqualifying or weak elements — this proposal should rank at the ton of PDG submissions Recommendation of Disqualification: Budget seems incomplete and is confusing. The student's essay sometimes talks very generally about what a conference is and how it helps students. Its just very odd. The student does point out which panels they plan to attend and how it will help their dissertation. I'm also confused on the student's program. In the HTML fillout, it states that they are pursuing an MA, but the proposal says that they are a third semester PhD student. I'm overall very confused, and am inclined to reject this application. 10 40 10 15 75 102023524 Not recommended for PDG.		articulates how the conference will enhance their development as a scholar

	Why:
	While the applicant is articulate and demonstrates clear academic and career goals, the funding request is ineligible under PDG because it supports tuition, textbooks, and fees rather than professional development activities such as conferences, workshops, or trainings. Additionally, the Suggested Revision (to make it PDG-eligible):

	If the student reframed the proposal around attending a professional
